HOSPITAL BOARD MEETING WAS HELD MONDAY EVENING

The regular meeting of the Hancock County Hospital Trustees was held Monday evening in the Court House with the meeting being recessed until Monday, April 14.

Members of the state auditing department who have been working on a financial statement for the hospital at a request from the Board of Supervisors advised a statement of accounting will be given by them at the meeting on this coming Monday. This will not be an audit, as such is not permitted until the end of the fiscal year, but accountants have been setting up a bookkeeping system which will give an accurate accounting of all finances, and will be in the manner of a guide whereby the Trustees will be in position to make decisions as to where monies are best spent, and where most value for dollar will benefit the hospital.

Mrs. Margaret Harrison, head nurse, sent a letter of resignation, and gave personal and family reasons as the cause of her decision to leave the services of the hospital.

For the second time a motion to cut the salary of the Administrator $100 per month was rejected when put to a vote, with a vote of four to three in favor of maintaining the services of the Administrator at the present salary of $500 per month.

It was reported that the gross intake of the hospital for the month of March showed a decided increase, and it is felt by the Trustees that when the statement on finances is given by the State Department next Monday, the figures will show the hospital to be in a healthy condition, and that it can operate on a level keel for the balance of the year with due precautions taken by the Trustees in the handling of the finances.

Another motion which was made and passed, was that on a temporary basis, until such time as the hospital is financially secured, the staff would work a six day week instead of the five day week which they are now working.

The Administrator was requested to convey this decision to the staff.

Youth Shot In Leg While Resisting Arrest Sunday

Miss Rivas, 19 year old female youth was arrested Sunday morning after being shot in the leg while resisting arrest by City Police Officer Pat Garcia, when he was attempting to arrest her for trespassing, disturbing the peace of the law, and for being disorderly conduct.

Also arrested and taken to the station were Eddyton C. Nebel, III, 23, of New Orleans, companion of Rivas.

Garcia in reporting his story of the affair, said that he had received a call from the police station about 8:30 a.m. Easter Sunday morning saying that a youth from residents of the North area complained of trespassing and disturbing the peace by a group of youths who were occupying home on Boardman Avenue, the Easter weekend, and some whom had come into the yard of one of the North Beach residents and trespassed and created nuisance disturbances.

Garcia was joined by Lathan Garcia, at the police station and the two officers drove to the home from where the complaint had been made.

Informing by the lady of the house that the boys came from across the street and were over there at the time, the two officers crossed over to where the house party was taking place. The youth was apparently taking place. Several youths were up and about, two of whom officers took in their car, drove back to the N. Beach home where the lady identified them as the who had trespassed on her property and created disturbances. Rivas got out of the car and followed the officers to the outside of the door where he began to berate the lady, and shook his finger in her face, hurling threats and insults. He failed to heed the advice of the officers to discontinue his tirade and when warned again by them to stop, he advanced on both, men threatening to beat them up, pushing at Garcia as he did so. Garcia hit Rivas with a black jack he had in his hand, but the youth continued to come on to the police officer. Garcia told him to stop or the would shoot and repeated the warning twice, with Rivas still intent on creating a physical brawl with the officers. Garcia reported he then fired two shots at the feet of Rivas to halt his progress, but that also failed to stop him, so he, (Garcia) shot him in the fleshy part of the thigh. Rivas then walked to the police car, entered it, and the police officer handcuffed the boy to avoid further trouble from Rivas, who was taken to the Hancock County Hospital for treatment.

Garcia said that during the trouble with Rivas, Nebel had remained in the car and had given the officers no trouble at any time. Both youths were released during the early part of the week on $175 bond with trial set for Friday, April 11, before Justice of the Peace Nolan Ladner in Bay St. Louis.

PULP AND PAPER DAY — APRIL 15, 1958
AUSTIN BAXTER
 DEALER IN PULPWOOD — LOGTOWN, MISS.

The Easter week-end proved to be a happy and safe vacation for folks who spent it in Waveland. Many families from New Orleans and "surrounding" areas opened their home for the long holiday and many guests kept things busy in our town. Almost every home was lighted and cars in the yards represented guests and friends get together. There were no accidents of any great consequence. Safe driving seemed to prevail with motorists heeding the many words of caution about death and accidents on the highways. The weather was beautiful, spring had arrived, and the religious significance of the day was hallowed by church goers.

The new infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brewster Mollere will be christened Sunday at St. Clare's Catholic Church in Waveland. She has been given the name of Felice Genevieve Mollere. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gruntz of New Orleans will be the baby's sponsors.

On Easter morning at services at the Waveland Methodist Church, Mrs. William Bourgeois gave to the church a large American flag. The flag was the property of her late husband and was used in his burial rites. The flag will be used when the church is enlarged and a flag pole is erected. The flag represents true fellowship and the members of the congregation in Waveland extend their sincere thanks to Mrs. Bourgeois.

After the Easter services at the church the beautiful Easter lilies were given to Mrs. Wm. Bourgeois and Mrs. Abbie Walker. Mrs. Walker has been ill and the flowers added beauty and cheer to her Easter weekend.

Mrs. Alfred Bourgeois is recuperating after illness. Her many friends send her "get well" wishes.

Mr. Roland Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Russell of Waveland, spent the Easter weekend with his parents. He was home from Mississippi State College where he is a student.

Mrs. Richard Olson, the former Miss Patricia Bourgeois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ducre Bourgeois of Waveland, is home with her parents. Her husband-Airman 3rd Class Richard Olson—is now stationed in Germany. Mrs. Olson, who has been visiting her husband's parents in the East, will remain with her parents during her husband's absence.

It has been said that, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thought of love." We are not going to question the validity of this statement by Alfred Lord Tennyson. We are only going to add to it. Not only do young men's fancies turn to thoughts of love, but the fancies of many ladies turn in the same direction. In Waveland there is a young female named Jenny who is homesome and pining for her lost lover.

The lover in this case bore the name of "Squeaky." Not romantic, you say? Perhaps not from the point of view of us humans. But, you see, "Squeaky" was a raccoon the devoted pet of Dr. Walter Hava. He died a week ago and Jenny is grieving. Dr. Hava wants another raccoon to take "Squeaky's" place and to make Jenny happy again. If you know where he can get a young male, will you please get in touch with him at HO-7-6822.

Go to the church of your choice on Sunday.
 Services in Waveland's Church are as follows:

RENEWS MILITARY CONTACTS IN BAY
 Colonel Carl Dunsner, U. S. A. and Mrs. Dunsner spent several days visiting in Bay St. Louis during the Easter Holiday weekend as guests of Mrs. Maybelle Smith, Colonel Dunsner's West Point graduate daughter. Mrs. Smith is currently a Professor of Nursing at the Military Academy, Camp Hill, Alabama.

During their visit, their hostesses remarked there were several retired Colonels now living in the Bay St. Louis area. She named Colonel Marcel Gillis and it happened that her guests and Colonel Gillis had been class mates at West Point. A visit to the Gillis home in Waveland and nostalgic memories were revived by the two distinguished military men. Another classmate from the academy was paid a visit, Colonel Nimitz Pile, who resides with Mrs. Pile on North Beach, in the Bay. The Colonels became cadets again in their reminiscence. Colonel Alfred N. MacAleff and Colonel R. dePas also turned out to be formerly associated in military service with Colonel Dunsner, the three having been actively engaged during World War II in the European Theatre of Operations. Other former friends were visited among whom were Captain and Mrs. Wilson Wittlesberger, who now resides on Nicholson Avenue. Mrs. Wittlesberger and Mrs. Dunsner are friends of long standing.

Commodore and Mrs. Henry Chapman entertained at cocktails for the Dunsners and their military friends during their visit, as did Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Hoefeld. Mr. Hoefeld ranks as a Lt. Colonel in the Army Reserves.

Hancock County Soil Conservation District is a governmental unit of the state of Mississippi. The County is divided into three main physiographic divisions, (1) the northern, (2) the central and (3) the southern. The northern part of the county is the extreme southern part. (2) Flatwoods in central part and (3) hills and ridges in the northern part of the county.

A greater part of the entire District is cutover land, much of which is being planted to pine trees. All of this land is covered with a growth of native type grasses, and weeds, which a large part is an inferior feed for our open range cattle. These grasses could maintain more livestock with the proper utilization of these available grasses present.

The land use pattern map of the district shows that most of the land is best suited to trees first, grasses and legumes second, and row crops third. However, this map is to be revised shortly; copies of which will be given to all the county agents, bankers, and civic groups. This information, we the Commissioners feel, is instrumental in letting the local business people know how the Hancock County Soil Conservation District is striving to put the land to its proper use.

Since the introduction of the Soil Conservation Program in 1948 the major Agricultural practices have changed from mule and horse cropping to a more mechanical type of farming. Our farmers are continually taking advantage of the assistance offered by the S. C. D. Program in putting their land into its proper use within its capability.

There were 21 new conservation plans developed and 15 plans planted in 1957. These plans consisted of a complete soil survey of the entire farm, recorded decisions of the farmer with technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Technician, providing recommendations for amounts of seed and fertilizer for best results, where terraces and ditches should go, if needed, investigate and record wind suitable sites for stock water ponds, assist in deciding when such practices should be carried out to conform to a well rounded, long range farm plan. There are 347 farmers cooperating with the Soil Conservation District in Hancock County out of a possible 450. These farmers are called S. C. D. Cooperators; after they request and receive the services offered by the S. C. D.

Our cooperators completed the following Soil and Water Conservation Practices in 1957: 40 acres of contour farming; 100 acres of cover cropping; 108 acres of crop residue utilization; 208 acres of crop rotation; 718 acres of proper use; 178 acres new pasture planted; improvement cutting of 40 acres woodland; planted 409 acres of pine trees; thinned 40 acres woodland; planted 19 acres of wildlife acres; stocked 3 ponds with fish; added 40 acres of new land to our irrigation water management program; and built 1 stock water pond.

The Soil Conservation District office is located in the Agriculture Center Bldg., on Necaise Ave., Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, along with the A. S. C. F. H. A. County Agent, Home Demonstration Agent, 4-H Club, State Forest Service and the County Welfare. We are very fortunate in that we are in this building together with the other agricultural agencies, whereby we get their fullest cooperation on matters which arise without undue delay.

Recently, we noticed new conveniences had been added to our Agricultural Center Bldg., which is modern in every respect in the way of new light fixtures, heating systems, air conditioners, new tile floors, and very recently the Home Demonstration Agent, completed and furnished the new kitchen. In addition a modern and spacious auditorium is provided in the rear of the building for use as needed. All of these comforts are enjoyed by the fullest cooperation of our Hancock County Board of Supervisors to whom we are very grateful.

Farm equipment, such as tractors, plows, fertilizers, distributors, and other implements except combines are fairly available in the District. There is no seed fertilizer nor implement dealer in the district at present. There is, however, a 2-county Co-op being set up and operated by Hancock, Harrison and Jackson Counties located at Gulfport, Miss. With assistance from the Federal Government.

Need of our farmers. The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Agency contributed $14,404 to 118 farmers to put in new pastures and other conservation practices, take $1,000 to get new practices made in 117 new pastures. These efforts have helped 1,100 farmers and 1,100 acres of new pastures to the average benefit of the Soil Bank Program and a part of the Conservation Reserve Program.

The Farm Income Stabilization Act of 1949, which was passed by the Congress, has helped 1,100 farmers and 1,100 acres of new pastures to the average benefit of the Soil Bank Program and a part of the Conservation Reserve Program.

Joe Riggins of Learned, Mississippi, won the Reserve Championship in the 4-H F. F. A. Baby Beef class during the Hinds County Livestock Show at Edwards, Mississippi, last week. His steer, a registered purebred Hereford, brought $702.00 at 90 cents a pound, from the buyer, Standard Life Insurance Company of Jackson. W. R. "Buck" Newman, president of the company, and Joe are pictured in the ring during the sale.

est Service maintains 3 look-out towers, one for year round, while the other is for only 5 months. They have 3 fire-fighting units consisting of 2 half-track tractors, and 1 crawler tractor with 3 men per unit five months in the year. The number of forest fires July 1, 1956 to June 30, 1957, was 110 with 146 acres burned. Besides fire protection the State carries on an informational and educational Management, Nursery, and law enforcement programs. 3 1/2 million seedlings were ordered from this county for the 1957 planting season.

The Extension Service cooperates with the SCD by carrying out the educational part of the Agricultural program which includes assisting farmers in the county to become a member of the S. C. D. We recognize the fine conservation work being carried out on the forest of International Paper Company and Crosby Forest Products Mfg. Co., during the year. International constructed 9.14 miles of new roads; maintained 130 miles of roads, and 55 miles of fire lines. Planted 227 acres of trees, thinned 871 acres of woods, did timber stand improvement work on 228 acres, and removed 455 acres. They also maintain crews with 4 mobile fire-fighting units equipped with radio for communications. Crosby Products maintained 60 miles of roads and 80 miles of fire lanes, have two mobile units and one fire tower for fire protection measures in the county. We want to thank Mr. Sam Whitfield for furnishing a tree planting machine for use at a non-profit cost of operating in promoting the reforestation program in Hancock County. He also maintains a fire fighting unit, and crew free of charge for use in suppressing any forest fires that may occur.

We also want to thank the Hancock Bank, and Mr. Jack Loft for furnishing a tree planting machine for use to our farmers and land owners; the Vocational Agricultural Teachers for the fine educational work among their students, and for their assistance in conservation educational meetings in the District; and we want to thank all the other groups and individuals such as the newspapers, seed and feed dealers in nearby towns, and the radio stations of Piquette and Gulfport for helping us achieve our goal in carrying out a good, sound Soil and Water Conservation Program in the Hancock County Soil Conservation District.

OTHO RESTER, Chairman, Hancock County Soil Conservation District.

INCOME TAX LAW DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE STATE AND FEDERAL STATUTES

The Mississippi Income Tax Law, when it was modernized or amended in 1924, was modeled closely after the Federal Income Tax Law then in effect. Since that time, a number of changes have been made in the Federal Income Tax Law.

The principal one affects individuals whose income is from salaries and wages. These individuals, and they comprise a large number of our taxpayers, pay their tax by withholdings from their weekly or monthly earnings. The tax thus paid is remitted direct to the Bureau of Internal Revenue by the employer, and the taxpayer has little concern therewith. All other taxpayers are required to submit estimates and pay their tax during the year for which it is paid. Your Mississippi income tax liability is paid after the close of the period for which the return is filed. There is no withholding, and inquiries relating to refunds due and amounts withheld are often addressed to the Commissioner of Income Tax whereas these matters come within the scope of the duties performed by the Collector of Internal Revenue.

Another difference which concerns many taxpayers is the long-term short-term capital gain and loss provision. This provision is a part of the Federal Income Tax Law, but is not to be considered in determining gain or loss realized from the sale of real and personal property reported for State income tax purposes. On the State return, the gain or loss is reported, and no consideration is given to the term or period of time that the property was held by the taxpayer.

Another provision contained in the Federal Income Tax Law, but which is not a part of the State Income Tax Law, is percentage depletion. For State income tax purposes, natural assets may be depleted, but such depletion is based upon cost, and is limited thereto. The arbitrary allowance of 27 1/2% allowed as a deduction from the income realized from mineral assets, is not to be considered for Mississippi income tax purposes. The cost of the mineral asset must always be determined, and if there is no cost, which occurs in many cases, there is no deduction for depletion. The depletion deduction for Mississippi income tax purposes is limited to 15% of the gross income, not to exceed 30% of the net income, but aggregate of such deductions over a period of years may not exceed the cost.

For Federal income tax purposes, all taxes paid, other than Federal income, estate, gift, import duties, or cetera may be deducted. For State income tax purposes, all taxes paid to a taxing authority may be deducted, with the exception of income taxes (of any nature), inheritance, and gift taxes. For Federal income tax purposes, an exemption may be claimed for

On the Federal income tax return, a taxpayer may claim a deduction for the cost of depletion. This deduction is based upon the cost of the asset, and is limited to 15% of the gross income, not to exceed 30% of the net income. For State income tax purposes, the depletion deduction is based upon cost, and is limited thereto.

Dividends from national banks may not be taxed, unless the state wherein the bank is situated, has elected to tax such dividends. The dividends received by their shareholders. This exemption from tax for Mississippi income tax purposes, dividend paid by national banks to their shareholders is not to be considered for Mississippi income tax purposes. Dividends from national banks in these states may be taxed and should be reported for Federal income tax purposes. This exemption does not exist.

For State income tax purposes, service pay received from the armed forces of the United States should be reported. Every single person whose income exceeds $4,000.00 and every married couple whose joint income exceeds $8,000.00, is urged to file a report. A statement of the income and deductions claimed will suffice. This will prevent correspondence at a later date. It will reduce the cost of administration. It will be a definite contribution to the improvement of the service which the Commissioner of Income Tax and his staff are trying to render.

Despite the fact that Mississippi has a reduced death tax, the State has killed, 10 less, for the three months of the year.
